

Time to Pray

The 2,000-odd strikers at the Canadian Johns-Manville Co. in Asbestos, Que. are all members of the Confédération des Travailleurs Catholiques du Canada. As good Catholics with time on their hands, they have gone to church twice a day during the nine weeks of the strike. Last week, 27 of the provincial police, whom Premier Maurice Duplessis had sent to Asbestos to protect company property, locked themselves up in the company-owned bunkhouse for a Holy Week retreat.

Source: Time Magazine \(Canadian edition\), April 25, 1949, p. 16.

© 2001 Claude Bélanger, Marianopolis College.